

1 a) age, firstName, _count, $price

b) 1data. Illegal because an identifier can not start with a number Class, Illegal because reserved keywords cannot be used as identifier names.
My variable, Illegal because spaces are not allowed inside identifier names.
@sum, Illegal because identifiers cannot contain special symbols other than underscores

5. a) A primitive data type is a basic, built in single value, while an abstract data type is a conceptual behavior model without implementation details

b) A class is a blueprint or template, while an object is a real, working copy (or instance) built from that blueprint

11. a) In this statement, the result of j and k is a double. Since the destination variable Z is already known as a double, the data match perfectly.